Opening of the public schools in New York was postponed a second time Thursday to September 25, because of infantile paralysis.

Maine's State election will be held Sept. 11, and if that Republican stronghold turns its back on Hughes, it will be all over but the shouting.

A resolution has been introduced authorizing the President to lay an embargo on print paper until the shortage is relieved.

An alleged poem read by the editor of the Kentuckian at the Ferrell reunion, is published today at the author's request.

There may not be much in a name, but nothing could seem to be more appropriate than that Judge Wells should look after oil wells in Estill county.

Albert Goldman leaped from the 40th story of the Singer building in New York and fell 600 feet. He narrowly missed falling on some passers-by. Oh! yes, he was killed.

At a revival at Lebanon Junction, Ky., a big bonfire was made of "Pastor" Russell books and literature that had been sold to the members and were brought to the church to be burned.

Plans for a vigorous campaign to prevent the spread of infantile paralysis were made at Washington Thursday at a conference of health authorities of most of the states with officials of the federal public health service.

The new revenue bill, as reported to the Senate, would place on the free list print paper costing up to five cents a pound. Under the existing law, paper costing up to 2½ cents a pound is on the free list.

The State Journal is discussing the advisability of killing the crows because they are destructive to the corn crop. Don't kill 'em yet. There is plenty of corn this year, and the Republicans will have to eat crow after the November election.

Kelly Neal, of Duck Hill, Miss., went to San Francisco to commit suicide, giving as a reason that friends of his home town ridiculed an impediment in his speech, which he had tried in vain to overcome. Green Champ-lin's friends are keeping a close watch over him since some sort of an "impediment," believed to be Upshur Wooldridge, caused him to forget his speech at the Ferrell reunion. They don't want Champ to kill either him self or the man who laughed at him.

It is reported from Frankfort that Attorney General Logan has decided that a circuit judge must be elected this fall and that the district committees may nominate their party candidates or designate the manner in which the nominations shall be made. It is to be earnestly hoped that all Democrats who want to run will be willing to submit their claims to the district committee. To divide the party into rival factions before the election would cost it many votes in November.

PLAN UP TO PRESIDENTS

Railroad Heads Called to Washington to Avert General Strike.

IS READY TO GO HIGHER

Indications Point to Support of Managers' Refusal by Presidents, Says Report.

Washington, Aug. 18.—President Wilson has laid his plan for averting the threatened railway strike before the employees' committee of 640. Having found the managers' committee adamant to his proposal that they accept the 8-hour day he appealed to the railroad presidents and asked them to come to the white house for a conference.

There is every indication that if the railroad presidents sustain their managers, President Wilson will appeal finally to the financial powers which control the roads, for it is his purpose to deal with the ultimate authority before he gives up his efforts. The president's plan which is expected to be formally accepted by the employees' committee at a meeting at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning proposes:

An 8-hour day as the basis for computing wages.

Regular pay at the 8-hour day rate for overtime.

To refer all other collateral issues to a small commission to be created by congress on which the employees, the railroads and the public would be represented.

Acceptance of the proposal by the employees was forecasted by expressions of their leaders after they left the president's conference. One of them declared: "The men would be fools not to accept it."

The attitude of the railroad presidents is not so clear.

BRIGHTEST OF PROSPECTS

For Fall Session of Bethel Woman's College Opening September 14.

Prof. W. S. Peterson has returned from a canvassing trip of two weeks in the interest of Bethel Woman's College, upon which he met with much success. He already has the signed applications of more young ladies than he had in the boarding department last year and many others are writing for catalogues and personal interviews. Five young ladies from one town in the Third district sent in their applications together this week engaging rooms together. Contracts have been let for $1,000 improvements on the college building. The kitchen will be thoroughly remodeled and modernized, the wood-work of the entire exterior will be painted and the big Ionic columns in front will be painted for the first time in many years. Additional concrete floors will be laid, rooms will be repapered and otherwise improved, and radical changes will be made in the chapel. Work will start Monday morning on some of these improvements.

Hikes and Drills.

As a result of the visit of Inspector General Chamberlain of the United States army to the mobilization camp at Ft. Thomas, the soldiers will be drilled not less than eight hours a day and take marches twice weekly of not less than ten miles each. Non-commissioned officers must be drilled not less than two hours daily.

CHECK FOR $1,000.000

Paid A. P. Crockett's Company For Sale of Oil Lands.

ON $400.00 INVESTMENT

Former Hopkinsville Man Now In New York To Distribute Funds.

The Oklahoma City Times of August 3 gives a fac simile of the check for $1,000,000 made payable to the Fortuna Oil Co., of Oklahoma City, and drawn on the Roxana Oil Co., of Tulsa. It was received by A. P. Crockett, president of the Fortuna company, a member of the law firm of Burwell, Crockett & Johnson. The check was in payment of a 480 acre lease near Yale, Okla., upon which no oil has yet been found. The original cost of the lease is said to have been $400.

The lease was purchased 2 years ago by the firm on the advice of D. W. Ohern and Frank Buttram, geologists for the company. "One well has been drilled only to the sand, but production is found on all sides of the tract. The company still retains several hundred acres of leases in the vicinity. Stockholders in the Fortuna company are, A. P. Crockett, C. E. Johnson, estate of B. F. Burwell, D. W. Ohern, Frank Buttram and C. R. Brooks as well as bankers in New York City.

Mr. Crockett is now in New York to close up the details of the deal and make a distribution of the proceeds of the lease of the land for its mineral rights.

Mr. Crockett is largely interested in other lands of the same character.

Out of The Army.

Ralph Dudley arrived in the city Wednesday night from Ft. Thomas, where he has been in camp with his military company. His term of enlistment has expired, and he and Mrs. Dndley, who had been visiting relatives here, returned to their home in Earlington Thursday—Pembroke Journal.

The President's Plan.

President Wilson has completed a definite plan for settlement of the threatened nation-wide strike of all railroad employees, and will submit it to both sides. The plan proposes that the railways shall concede the eight-hour work day, and later it probably will be proposed that a Federal Commission be appointed or created to investigate all problems.

DISTRICT COMMITTEE

Party Law Governing Its Authority in Making Nominations.

The Democratic district committee of the third judicial district is composed of the following members:

L. J. HARRIS.

Christian—L. J. Harris, Chairman. Calloway—Joe Lancaster. Lyon—W. A. Sexton. Trigg—Frank Ladd.

The duties of the committee are thus defined by the party law, section 28:

"The executive committee in all appellate, senatorial, judicial and legislative districts comprised of more than one county, shall be composed of the chairmen of the various county committees of said counties composing said districts, and said committee shall be the governing party authority of said districts, and the chairman of the county executive committee of the county that cast the largest democratic vote at the last preceding November election shall be the chairman of said committee; and said committee shall have full authority to say and to determine how all nominations are made, and to declare all nominees, not inconsistent with the general primary election law."

THREE RECRUITS

From Hopkinsville In First Bunch Sent to Fort Thomas.

A MIXTURE OF POISONS

Defeated The Purpose of a Young Man Bent on Suicide.

ANTIDOTES USED IN TIME

Ellis West, Bridegroom of Three Months, Says He Wants To Die.

Ellis West, aged 23, attempted to commit suicide yesterday at 12:30 p. m., at the home of his mother, Mrs. Nannie West, on Twenty-First street, but failed in the opinion of the attending physician, because the poison with which he attempted to poison himself was made up of strychnine, rough-on-rats and carbolic acid, and failed to kill him because the poisons neutralized the mixture and one counteracted the effect of another.

Mr. West had been married to Miss Linnie Hayes only three months ago. When a doctor came to administer medicine he said, "I want to die, I have nothing to live for." But later submitted to treatment and took the antidotes given him and did as directed by the physician.

Mr. West had worked at the Mogul Wagon Works for a number of years. Several weeks ago, it is said, a dispute between him and another workman at the wagon factory had resulted in his resigning his place there.

Yesterday just before he took the mixture of poisons, his sister heard him fire two shots from the back yard. It is not known what caused him to fire the shots.

SUES HUSBAND FOR DIVORCE

Mrs. Anna Meyers Asks For Legal Separation From Charlie Meyers.

Mrs. Anna Myers yesterday filed suit for divorce from her husband, Charles Meyers, a local meat dealer. The plaintiff says they were married in Nashville, Tenn., July 6, 1910, and have lived here as man and wife until this month when she was forced to leave the defendant on account of his cruel and inhuman conduct, which has been growing worse for six months, until she was forced to leave him. She also alleges that the defendant neglected her and left her alone at night, although she made him a faithful and dutiful wife and helped him to run his business. She prays for divorce and costs and an allowance for attorney's fee.

Final figures put the number of lives lost in the flood in Claiborne county, Tenn., at 24.

THRUSTS PERIL GERMAN CENTER

Russians Now in Position to Flank Middle Portion of The Teutonic Front.

SLAVS EAGER TO ATTACK

"Have Enough Ammunition to Take Us to Berlin," Declares Russian Officer.

The continued success of General Brussiloff's two powerful movements which are gradually enveloping Kovell and Lemberg, have begun to have marked effect on the situation in the central portion of the front which, except small Russian gains in the lake region of Dvinsk, has remained virtually unaltered since the Russians fell back last autumn to the line from Dvinsk to the Pinsk marshes. The Austrian line now has receded so far before the repeated thrusts of the southwestern Russian forces in southern Poland and Galician that the Germans are in great danger of flanking movements from the south and the automatic retirement of the forces opposed to Russian center.

A corps commander who showed the correspondent of the Associated Press a huge supply of ammunition and material at the disposal of one part of the force engaged in this section of the front, said: "We have enough ammunition stored away to take us to Berlin."

The soldiers seem to be plentifully supplied with wholesome food and are living under the best sanitary conditions. They are surrounded by comforts and conveniences comparable to those at a modern American summer camp. The spirit and fighting strength of the Russian soldier appear to be very high and troops confidently expect to occupy their original quarters in western Poland.

For the first time in weeks no change of importance was reported in any theater of the war Thursday. The most violent fighting took place on the western end of the British salient on the Somme. Six times the Germans advanced in force in a desperate effort to bend back the British line northwest of Pozieres. London reports that all of these assaults were repulsed with heavy losses and that the British in turn captured about 100 yards of trenches northwest of Bazentin.

TUBERCULOSIS CAUSES DEATH

Wife of Mr. George Pyle, of Kelly, Victim of the Disease.

Mrs. Minnie Pyle, wife of Mr. George Pyle, died at her home near Kelly Thursday afternoon about 5 o'clock. She had been a sufferer from tuberculosis for several months and her demise was not unexpected. The deceased is survived by her husband and five children. The interment took place in the Fuller burying ground, a few miles west of Kelly, yesterday.

His Test of Greatness.

He was perched on a broken-down fence with a baseball bat over his sturdy right shoulder and was evidently waiting for the others to arrive for the game. Always anxious to improve the childish mind, I at once suggested to him the opportunities for study which he was wasting in the profitless time squandered for pleasure. I told him of Columbus, of Washington, Lincoln, Grant, Lee, and other immortals, whose names would live for countless years to come. I tried to impress upon him that he should learn more of these famous persons who had accomplished so much before death overtook them; that they should stand out to him as shining examples of what men may achieve through conscientious and consistent effort. I asked in simple phrases that he study these great men, and exert all his powers to follow in their footsteps. I was delighted to see a spark of interest kindle in his little black eyes at last.
 "Say, mister!" he chirped, leaning a little toward me, and speaking in a tone of suppressed excitement, "could any of dem guys pitch a curve?"

BEATING THE HESSIAN FLY

Methods of Successful Michigan Farmers.

At this time, when the fight on the Hessian Fly is becoming so widespread, and every implement of warfare is being used, any word or method of control is eagerly sought. To the "pestered" wheat growers nothing is more acceptable than news of the success of other practical farmers, and because of this the experience of Mr. P. I. Simons of Calhoun County, Mich., is worthy of note. It is not a one year's test, but observations from three crops that the conclusion is based upon.

As Mr. Simons tells it: "The wheat field was severely attacked by the Hessian fly, and the average yield that year was 3 to 5 bushels per acre.
 Right across the fence from my wheat field was another on the same kind of ground that had been prepared in practically the same way.

"The difference was that I used 200 pounds of a complete fertilizer per acre. The application was made with a fertilizer attachment to the grain drill at the time of sowing. At four different places across the field strips were untreated and the entire field was seeded to clover.

"Up to June 10th the fly had not attacked my fertilized wheat, but had attacked the unfertilized wheat in the same field to such an extent that the drill rows where no fertilizer was used appeared as wagon roads across the field. At this time the field across the fence from mine had practically been destroyed, yielding only 3 bushels per acre. My wheat threshed out 21 bushels per acre. The fertilizer that year meant an increase of at least 15 bushels per acre to me.

"Now, when it came to the seeding where no fertilizer was applied I failed to get a clover stand, while on the fertilized portion of the field I had the best clover in the neighborhood."

It should not be taken that fertilizer will kill the fly. It isn't an insecticide, but it fulfills its mission when the increased health and vigor of the plants results, and thus the fly turns to the weaker, sicker plants to carry on the destruction. Sowing late will help avoid the fall brood, but no recourse other than having good strong healthy plants can be turned to so that the spring brood will not have the chance of profit-taking.

STAMP OUT THE FLY

"Three things are necessary in waging a successful warfare against the Hessian Fly, viz: thorough preparation of the soil, so as to form the best possible conditions for germination; heavy fertilization, if the soil is not already in good condition, so as to insure a quick and rapid growth, and late sowing so as to compel the flies to go elsewhere to deposit their eggs."

This extract from Bulletin 194 of the Indiana Experiment Station contains in a nutshell the main conditions to be handled in the control of the pest. The Illinois Circular 146 also makes a good point when it declares: "A vigorous wheat plant is much better able to react against an attack of the fly, especially by stooling freely or throwing out an abundance of new shoots from the root.
 Whatever tends, consequently, to give vigor to the plant reduces proportionally the percentage of loss."

This leads to the conclusion that a fertilizer containing at least 2 per cent ammonia and at least 10 per cent available phosphoric acid may be the salvation of the crop, and the experience of many users bear this out. With such crop insurance so cheap compared with results obtained, the enhanced chances for a successful clover catch always greater by its use, fertilizer will play a very important part in this fight on the Hessian Fly.

FEED-UP YOUR FIELDS
INCREASE YOUR YIELDS

There is a farmer whom I know who shows that he is wise.
 He knows that larger yields of wheat come when you fertilize.
 With crop reports much lower than last year and prices high,
 The farmer easily can see that plant food is his best buy.
 Some nitrogen will help the growth,
 phosphoric acid, too,
 A little potash strengthens straw and plumps the kernels too.
 Let's help the plants make good stalk growth and fill the kernels plump.
 By feeding 'em with plant food (Sir)
 —Then watch the profits jump!
 The profits come with larger yields,
 the average crops don't pay
 So why not get your share of gain—
 the fertilizer way?
 With wheat you have a high-priced crop and extra bushels count.
 Fertilize your fields, bring up your yields and watch your profits mount.
 And when you see just how it pays this year to fertilize your wheat, Next year you'll feed your other crops and all your records beat.
 For farming is a game in which the Golden Rule applies,
 You feed your crops and they feed
 you, so, therefore fertilize.

WHERE HE DREW THE LINE

Old Gentleman Would Go Far in Furlishing Wives, but There Was a Limit.

Senator Key Pitman was regaling a Tonopah dinner party out of his store of political anecdotes.

"You've heard, of course," he said, "of Missouri's famous governor of old time, Claiborne Jackson.

"Jackson was famous, among other things, for having married—one at a time, of course—five sisters. When he presented himself to demand the last of those girls, their octogenarian father was very deaf. A dialogue like this ensued:

"I want Lizzie."
"Wotsay?"
"I want you to give me Liz—E-l-i-z-a-b-e-t-h!"

"Oh, you want Liz, do ye? What for?"

"For my wife!"

"For life, eh?"

"What I mean is—I want—to marry her!"

"Oh, yes! Just so! I hear ye, boy."

"It's a durned good thing you do," muttered Gov. Claiborne Jackson to himself, and he wiped his wet brow with his coat-sleeve.

"Yes," said the old man, "I hear ye. Ye needn't holler so loud the whole neighborhood knows our business. I hear ye, boy, and ye can have her; but for goodness sakes alive, if anything happens to that poor, misguided girl, don't come and ask me for the old woman!"

Skeptical.

"Mother, Willie said that Mike eats snakes, and I asked him did he eat snakes." "And what did he say?" asked mother. "He said yes, and I asked him what for, and he said, 'for greens.' Now don't you think that was a funny kind of greens?" "Yes," said mother, "but you must not believe all Mike tells you." "Oh, I don't, mother. He told me that once you were as little as I am and that you were ten times prettier, but of course I did not believe that."

Merely a Clerical Error.

The amusing blunders into which he may fall who attempts to translate from one language to another without a thorough mastery of the idioms of both are exemplified by the preacher who, wishing to make a good impression upon a few Englishmen who he knew were among his auditors, started their ears by his rendering of the familiar text of the Vulgate: Spiritus quidem promptus est, caro autem infirma, as "The ghost indeed is willful, but the meat is not strong."—London Chronicle.

One Way Out.

One of the congregation of a church not far from Boston, says Harper's Magazine, approached her pastor with the complaint that she was greatly disturbed by the unmelodious singing of one of her neighbors. "It's positively unbearable!" she said. "That man in the pew in front of us spoils the service for me. His voice is harsh and he has no idea of tune. Can't you ask him to change his pew?" The good pastor was sorely perplexed. After a moment's reflection, he said, "Well, I naturally would feel a little delicacy on that score, especially as I should have to tell him why I asked it. But I'll tell you what I might do." Here his face became illuminated by a happy thought. "I might ask him to join the choir."

Youth's Privilege.

Youth is the time to store up knowledge. If not gained before the day of special need, it can seldom be secured after one feels the lack of it. As a quaint old proverb puts it: "What Master Jacky does not learn, Mr. John never knows."

Why He Needed It.

Having listened to the voice of the siren, a San Francisco man contracted to purchase a piece of property in a suburban tract without going to look at it. When he did, he was surprised. Not long afterward he visited his bank to negotiate a loan. "It's in connection with some lots I have bought," said the borrower. "Do you want the money to finish paying for them?" asked the banker. "Heavens, no," was the reply. "I want the money to buy gasoline enough so that I can drive out to see them."

FATAL FALL AT QUARRY

James Smith, a Colored Workman, Meets Death While Alone.

BODY MANGLED BY A CAR

Operation Was Performed In Attempt to Save His Life.

James Smith, a negro boy about 18 years old, fell beneath one of the hauling cars at the Kentucky Crushed Stone Company's rock quarry Thursday between noon and one o'clock, and received injuries which proved fatal. He died in a few hours. His leg was badly mangled.

An operation was performed in an attempt to save his life, but it proved unsuccessful. It is not known just how the accident happened. The boy was outside of the quarry attending to a car, which was on the rails. The car ran over the right side of his body. The boy had been a valued workman at the quarry. He lived on First street.

KENTUCKY DOG TAX

Nets School Fund $45,949—Pike Pays Biggest Toll.

Frankfort, Ky., August 18.—The state school fund has been swelled by $45,949.48 collected as taxes on dogs. Last year the dogs of the state netted the school fund $39,622.46.

Pike county leads the list with the number of dogs, turning into the school fund $2,409.02 from this source. Boyle County paid the lowest dog tax, that of $5.31. Some of the counties of the state, where the best dog kennels are located, failed to collect any dog tax.

Among these were Fayette, Bourbon, Bath, Clark, Clay, Fleming, Franklin, Fulton, Grant, Harrison, Lincoln, Madison, Mason, Montgomery, Nicholas, Oldham, Owen, Robertson, Rockcastle, Scott, Spencer, Warren, Washington and Webster Counties.

Wells and Linn.

Judge Conn Linn, of Tulsa, Okla., formerly of Murray, Calloway county, arrived in Louisville today from the Estill county oil fields, where he has invested in large tracts of land which give promise of developing into one of the richest oil fields in the country. Judge Linn and Judge A. J. G. Wells, also of Murray, are jointly interested in the Estill county fields and the latter will remove to Irvine September 1, when his term as warden of the Frankfort Reformatory expires, to devote his personal attention to the oil business.—Times.

Mr. Hamlett Recovers.

Barksdale Hamlett, of Hopkinsville, former superintendent of Public Instruction, arrived in Louisville Tuesday from his old home in Virginia and will remain here several days before going to his home in Hopkinsville. Mr. Hamlett has fully recovered from an illness which physicians believed for several weeks would result in his death. He was confined to his bed in a hospital for several weeks, but was able to leave the institution four weeks ago and go to the home of his father in Virginia, where he fully recuperated. He expects shortly to open a law office in Hopkinsville or some other city in Western Kentucky.—Times.

LEAGUE IS ORGANIZED

With Ed L. Weathers as President and Mrs. N. H. Fentress Secretary.

The organization of the Christian County Public Health and Welfare League was effected at a mass meeting of citizens at the tabernacle Thursday night. Rev. J. Newton Jessup called the meeting to order.

The following officers were elected: President, Ed L. Weathers; first vice-president, Dr. J. E. Stone; second vice-president, Dr. J. B. Jackson; secretary, Mrs. N. H. Fentress; treasurer, Bailey Russell.

The president on his election named the following executive council: Mrs. F. K. Yost, Miss Katie McDaniel, Mrs. George Kolb, James West, Chas. F. Johnson, Mrs. R. M. Woodridge, Mrs. B. D. Hill, Mrs. V. L. Gates, L. E. Foster, Mrs. L. Hisgen, Miss Minnie Pyle, Miss Fannie Phelps, Mrs. M. J. Lowenthal and Mrs. Georgia Clark.

A campaign for membership was started at the meeting and has been continued. The interest manifested at Thursday night's meeting insures the success of the league.

Interesting addresses, telling of the work that is proposed to be taken up by the new organization were made by Miss Marion Williamson, of the State Tuberculosis Commission and the resident nurse Mrs. Marion Sager, the visiting nurse.

Thursday dinner was given by the ladies of Hopkinsville for the benefit of the league. $100 was gained from the dinner, with which to start the fund of the league.

New Question Raised.

President H. S. Barker, of the University of Kentucky, has asked for an opinion as to the right of many students to enjoy free tuition, board and lodging, in accordance with the statutes, which seem to conflict with the statutes, which seem to conflict with the Bill of Rights of the Constitution.

Town Goes Broke

The citizens of Sardis, Mason county, have filed a petition through Stanley F. Reed, a former member of the Legislature, to dissolve or annul the charter of the town. The town was incorporated in 1850 and contains seventy-six voters and 240 persons. The petitioners state that it is impossible to continue to run the town, owing to the small amount of taxes paid.

Mistake Corrected.

DADDY'S EVENING MARY TALE

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

WEATHER DOG.

"The Elves have a dog," said Daddy "which always goes with them on their trips. His name is Weather."

"I've never heard of such a queer name for a dog," said Nancy.

"Why just think, Daddy," said Nick, "if you called him good Weather, or bad Weather, how funny it would sound. Not at all as if you called him good Jack or bad Jack."

"Well," continued Daddy, "they do call him bad Weather and good Weather, but they really are just as fond of him whether they call him bad or good for his name really means the Weather, and the Elves never care if it rains or snows or is piping hot."

"You see, once upon a time in Elf-land, a little Elf named Midge."

"Not for Myself I'm So Fussy," wanted to know if it was going to rain or if the sun was going to shine.

"Isn't it a pity," said Midge, "that I cannot tell."

"Why do you want to know?" asked another Elf. "What difference does it make to you? Why you are just as silly as a Grownup."

"Oh, Grownups aren't silly," said Midge, "and it's rude of you to say so. They just haven't our ways, that's all, and when it rains they get wet and maybe catch cold. Now, whoever heard of an Elf with a cold?"

"You're quite right," said the other little Elf. "But tell us, Midge, why do you want to know if it's going to rain or not?"

"Because I'm giving a party for the Butterflies this afternoon and I especially promised them I would have Mr. Sun. They really don't care about coming unless Mr. Sun is to be with us too. So you see it's not for myself I'm so fussy."

"Bow-wow, bow-wow," sounded from nearby.

"There is our beautiful Doggie, Max. He may tell us some way to know if it's going to rain or not."

"Max came running along, wagging his tail, just as he heard the last few words the little Elf was saying. He was a great, big Dog with huge brown eyes, and such a wise, wise face."

"He talked in Dog talk, wagging his tail, and sticking his ears up in the air, just as you Children use your hands, or shrug your shoulders, or scowl, or laugh. And the Elves knew what he meant. This is what he said:

"I'm so very grateful for my home with the Elves. You picked me up when I was a little wretched Puppy, almost too sick to care if I got well or not. And then you made my coat so fine and silky. You gave me such good things to eat, and the Elves always petted me such a great deal—that—well—I'm very happy, oh very, very happy, and Max's tail began to wag and wag as if it would almost come off."

"So," he continued, "I would be very glad to tell you always what the weather is going to do. Years and years ago my great-great-grandfather was a weather prophet, and the animals used to ask him whether it was going to rain or shine, and he could always tell them."

"Now to show you how very grateful I am I would like to do the same. I'll take three days studying it up, as I've almost forgotten all the secrets."

"And after that Max always told the Elves whether the rain was going to pay a visit to the earth, or whether old Mr. Sun was going to shine all day. He did this in many strange ways."

"When it was going to rain he would blink his eyes very fast, and if the Elves asked him if it was going to be a fine day he would wag his tail. If there was going to be a terrific storm he would shake all over and if there was going to be a thunder and lightning storm he would give low, low growls."

"Soon he became known as Weather and not as Max at all. So that is why the Elves always take Weather with them wherever they go, for he can always tell them just what it's going to do, from his great-great-grandfather, who has whispered down through all that family of Dogs just what the Sun and Rain are going to do."

"And so when the Elves are giving parties for the Butterflies they can always be sure of Mr. Sun if Weather tells them he is coming. But these Dogs are only known to Elf-land, for they are the little stray Dogs the Elves have rescued who know these secrets."

Waiting His Turn.

"And when are you going to have the measles?" asked the caller of small Tommy, whose little sister had them.

"Just as soon as Nettie gets through with them," was the logical reply.

CHANGE IS UNPOPULAR

Mail on Gracery Rural Route No. 3 Now Delayed Till Afternoon.

Much dissatisfaction is being expressed by the patrons of the Gracery Rural route No. 3, on account of a change made in the time of leaving Gracery. The mail has heretofore left Gracery at 6:45 a. m., serving practically all of the patrons by noon. Now it leaves at noon and many patrons do not get their morning mail until late in the afternoon. It is said that the change was brought about through Congressman Barclay, of the First district, as the route extends into Trigg county. Gracery, however, is in Christian county, and the dissatisfied patrons, at least 80 per cent of those on the route, are appealing to Congressman Kincheloe to have the old order restored. The only known reason for the change is to await the arrival of a noon train. This delays the delivery of the Kentuckian and other morning papers until late in the day.

HOWELL ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. McFarland, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Clardy, Messrs. H. W. Boxley, J. F. Dixon, Mrs. C. W. Garrott, Walker Garrott and Miss Bertha Clardy, of Howell, attended the Association at Allensville, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Misses Bertha and Mary Fox Clardy have returned home after a visit to Miss Cordelia Cross, of Longview.

Misses Sarah Davie and Arrona West entertained with a delightful lawn party Tuesday night; quite a large crowd was present and a very enjoyable time was spent.

Misses Robbie McKenzie, Sarah Whitaker Clardy and Cordelia Cross are the guests of Misses Clardy.

Mrs. C. S. Wilson, of Memphis, Tenn., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. A. Clardy.

Glasgow, Ky., Aug. 18.—Overriding all superstitions, John Sieber, a widower, 50 years old, of Stoval, and Miss Della Thomerson, 18 years old, of Glasgow, were married in a pouring rain, while seated in a buggy in front of the home of the county judge here. Mr. Sieber, who is a farmer, left immediately after the ceremony for his home in the country.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that a petition has been filed in the Christian County Court, asking that a public road, 30 feet wide and — miles in length, be opened in the vicinity of Haley's Mill, beginning at a point in the Crofton and Kirkmansville road, at the southwest corner of Popular Grove School lot, and passing over a lane to elbow in said lane, thence in a slightly northwest direction, over the land of John Davis to the property of W. A. Brinkley, thence over the land of said Brinkley to the Crofton and Kirkmansville road, at Haley's Mill. The court will on Friday, September, the 1st, take some action in the matter.

WITH SHOCKING SUDDENNESS

Comes the Last Summons to Wm. W. Fuqua, Prominent Merchant.

Funeral ceremonies were conducted yesterday morning at ten o'clock at the Methodist church, over the body of W. W. Fuqua, who died at the Jennie Stuart Memorial Hospital at about seven o'clock Thursday night. Rev. Mr. Hickerson, pastor of the Methodist church at Lafayette, assisted by Rev. J. N. Jessup, performed the last rites.

A large number of Mr. Fuqua's friends and business companions were present at the funeral, to pay a final tribute of respect to him. The Knights of Pythias, of which he was a member, attended in a body and took part in the service. Interment took place at Riverside cemetery.

Mr. Fuqua had been suffering with stomach trouble for about six months and was taken to the hospital for treatment Saturday. He had been feeling better Thursday morning, but after supper he began to feel worse and the end came a few hours later.

The body was taken to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Feland Clark, on East Ninth street, where it rested until yesterday morning.

Mr. Fuqua was born in Lafayette and spent his early life there. He was a son of Thomas J. Fuqua, one of the foremost citizens of the county. He began his career in the mercantile business in Lafayette and after he had become familiar with this business he came here to accept a position in the store of T. M. Jones and was connected with this establishment for twenty-seven years. Two years ago he entered business for himself at Lafayette.

Mr. Fuqua was a loyal and devoted member of the Methodist church and his splendid christian character made him a valuable member of the denomination. He was 58 years of age.

He was married three times, his first wife being Miss Jennie Rives. One daughter of this union, Mrs. Clark, survives her parents. His second wife was Miss Hattie White, and three sons of this marriage survive him, these being Churchill Fuqua, of Mississippi; Clark Fuqua, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Malcolm Fuqua, of Lafayette. His third wife, who survives, was Miss Lucy Hamby. No children were born to this union.

Death Was Sudden.

Madisonville, Ky., Aug. 16.—William J. Barnhill, pioneer liveryman of this city and one of the wealthiest men here, died suddenly at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of his cousin, Mrs. Lonnie Bailey. Mr. Barnhill, was stricken suddenly and death resulted within a few minutes. He had been in perfect health and had been about his business all day. He was about 62 years of age and had been in the livery business for 22 years.

GOOD START

Made By New Circuit Judge At Murray.

Speaking of Circuit Court at Murray, the Times says: Judge Bush arrived here Friday and immediately assumed the duties of the office.

Judge Bush is one of the oldest lawyers in point of service in the district and stands at the head of the profession. He will serve until the November election, and possibly until November 1917, if it is not determined that an election for this office, can be held this fall.

He has been dispatching business promptly and satisfactorily considering the confused state of court matters occasioned by the death of Judge Hanbery and the fact of court not commencing at the regular time. The bar and people seem pleased with the manner of the Judge's procedure, under the circumstances.

Pembroke's Beauty Spot.

The little L. & N. Park in Pembroke alongside, the depot, is now a thing of beauty, brilliant in blossoms of many colored flowers. The park is looked after by Mr. T. D. Ackerman, the hotel man, who gives it his close personal attention and takes great pride in its appearance. The flowers are selected with the taste of an expert floriculturist and their cultivation has been such as to bring out the best results. No one passing through Pembroke can fail to be impressed with the beauty of the little park.

Go It, Sena'tor!

Senator Martine, of New Jersey, after assailing the so-called Paper Trust on the floor of the Senate because of the high prices of news print paper, submitted an amendment to the Revenue Bill to place news print paper and materials entering into it on the tariff free list.

Two Operations

Miss Katharine Major, of Howell, underwent an operation here one day this week, her tonsils being removed. Miss Lois Adams, of Crofton, underwent a similar operation. Dr. H. C. Beazley performed both operations.

WHY WOMEN WRITE LETTERS

To Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co.

Women who are well often ask "Are the letters which the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. are continually publishing, genuine?" "Are they truthful?" "Why do women write such letters?"

In answer we say that never have we published a fictitious letter or name. Never, knowingly, have we published an untrue letter, or one without the full and written consent of the woman who wrote it.

The reason that thousands of women from all parts of the country write such grateful letters to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives, once burdened with pain and suffering.

It has relieved women from some of the worst forms of female ills, from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, nervousness, weakness, stomach troubles and from the blues.

It is impossible for any woman who is well and who has never suffered to realize how these poor, suffering women feel when restored to health; their keen desire to help other women who are suffering as they did.

ELIZABETH

Shows Sweetheart, Marshal and Deputies That She Needs No Protection.

Richmond, Ind., Aug. 18.—Elizabeth Culbertson, 21 years old, pretty Centerville girl, the other day gave that little town, six miles east of here, something hotter than the weather to think about, following a dispute with her sweetheart, Robert Mendenhall, of this city.

After pouncing upon Mendenhall and tearing off his shirt Elizabeth fought Town Marshal Moore and two citizens who rushed to his rescue. After putting Moore on his back she twice felled one of his deputies.

Nearly all the girl's clothes were torn off before she was placed in the lockup. There she scattered a crowd of villagers with the aid of a bucket of water.

After Elizabeth had cooled down Marshal Moore took her to her room so she could reclothe herself.

"I looked out of the window all the time, however," the Centerville Marshal explained at police headquarters here.

Champion Fish Story.

[New York Herald.]

The fish story to be told herewith is at the outset admitted to be the hardest to believe ever emanating from New Jersey. However, truth crushed to the ground will rise again, and, though the narrative gets a rise out of the crushers, there can be no denying that:

Louis G. Bowden, of Little Falls road, was fishing in the waters of Peckman river on Saturday and caught a pickerel. It was a great big one, and as he snapped it out of the water he gave a triumphant cry. A fish hawk flying over his head seized the fish and continued on his way, allowing the hook to flop down empty. Mr. Bowden as might be expected, was exceedingly annoyed. He was especially anxious to eat some pickerel, and he whipped the river for an effort to get one. No luck.

The fish hawk who deliberately stole that pickerel flew over the truck farm of Jacob Gissing after leaving the scene of the robbery. The pickerel was heavy, and the hawk with difficulty flew on. Mr. Gissing saw the bird swooping low and, throwing up his hat, shouted with energy. The bird dropped the fish.

When Mr. Gissing took the fish home his wife said it was so large and fine that she would call up Mr. and Mrs. Bowden, who lived near by, and have a splendid fish dinner with new peas, new potatoes, fresh beets and strawberry shortcake.

Mr. Bowden, angry beyond words, arrived home just as his wife was ready to go to the Gissing home. He went. What a night! What a triumph! His own fish!

Footleggers Caught.

Clarksville, Tenn., Aug. 18.—Fifteen "bootleggers" who were fined $50 each Monday morning were out on the streets next day with pick and shovel. They seemed to be in excellent spirits and were recognized by many of their customers, who now miss the other spirits that once flowed so freely.

TWO VACANCIES IN CITY SCHOOLS

Filled By Election of Misses Erma Armstrong and Bobby Terry.

Miss Ella Shadoin, of the second grade of Belmont School, has been granted a year's leave of absence without pay, in order that she may recuperate her health. She is now visiting friends in Texas. Her chair in the faculty has been filled by the transfer of Mrs. Mary S. Starling from the West Side School, 7th grade. The vacancy thus created has been filled by the election of Miss Erma Armstrong.

Miss Ellen Davison, of the 5th grade in the Virginia School, has resigned to accept a position at Danville, Ky. This vacancy has been filled by the transfer of Mrs. Ellen Macrae from the 6th grade at Belmont. The vacancy thus created has been filled by the election of Miss Bobby Terry.

"Vet" Kicked In The Face.

Bowling Green, Ky., Aug. 18.—Dr. J. L. Topmiller, a veterinarian, while dressing a horse's leg late Monday evening, was kicked by the animal in the face. His nose was broken and his upper lip was badly cut. Several stitches were taken.

Mountain Girl's Shot.

J. Martin Wright, an officer of Jenkins, Letcher county, was taken to Lexington to a hospital for treatment. His spinal cord is severed and he cannot recover. He was taken back to Jenkins to spend his last hours with his family. Wright went to the Huzzan home to serve a warrant for bootlegging when he and Huzzan engaged in a fight, and Mary Huzzan, Huzzan's sister, jerked a pistol from the officer and fired at him.

Preparedness Costs Money

A bond issue of $130,000,000 to meet extraordinary Government expenditures due to the Mexican situation was unexpectedly recommended in Congress by majority members of the Senate Finance Committee, with the concurrence of the Treasury Department.

President Scores Again.

The power of retaliation for refusal of the Entente Allies to permit importation of tobacco and other American products is placed in the hands of the President by a provision in the Revenue Bill, reported by the Senate Finance Committee.

Duncan Turned Loose.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 17.—H. J. Duncan, charged with killing Louis Feller last week, because it is alleged Feller invaded his home, was discharged in police court here today in accordance with the "unwritten law." "I am a Kentuckian," said Acting-Judge Reedy, entering the order of dismissal, "and I propose to uphold it."

Former Kentuckian.

Rev. R. E. L. Craig, formerly of Henderson, Ky., died at Houston, Tex., following an operation. He was an Episcopal minister.

Why Take Chances

on the purity of your drinking water? You wouldn't think of using spoiled meat or decayed vegetables as food, yet the very water you are now using may contain germs that are very much more harmful and injurious to your health than the tainted food. The appearance of the water doesn't indicate the presence of these germs and the only way to be sure you are not getting them is to use only PURE water. Ellis' Distilled Water is ABSOLUTELY PURE. It is bottled direct from the filter and the bottles are then sealed ready for delivery to the customers. Better be safe than sorry; begin using the BEST water today and avoid the possibility of a severe case of sickness. Telephone 43.

Cheap Transportation Has Built National Prosperity

This is a big American freight engine. It is an achievement of AMERICAN INVENTIVE GENIUS. It is built to HAUL LONG TRAINS loaded with the products of American industry from the mines, farms, mills and factories to the markets of the country, and to the seaboard for shipment across the seas. In all the wonderful history of American industrial progress NO PIECE OF MACHINERY HAS PERFORMED SUCH SERVICE AS THE BIG FREIGHT LOCOMOTIVE.

Freight is carried on our railroads at the LOWEST RATES IN THE WORLD, while we pay our railroad workers the HIGHEST WAGES IN THE WORLD. A TON OF FREIGHT IN THE EAST IS CARRIED THREE MILES FOR THE COST OF A TWO-CENT POSTAGE STAMP.

Cheap transportation is one of the biggest builders of our prosperity. The big freight engine with its enormous tractive power, the big steel freight car with its great carrying capacity, and the heavy rails and rock-ballasted roadbed to support the weight of the great engines and heavy trains—these are the achievements of American industrial genius which have given us low freight rates and broad markets, and have enabled us to put our products in the markets of the world in competition with foreign manufacturers.

But now come well-meaning but short-sighted leaders of American railroad workers who say to the railroad managers:

"SHORTEN YOUR FREIGHT TRAINS so that the engineers and trainmen can haul the tonnage faster over the roads, and so make as many miles pay in eight hours as they now do in ten hours."

To the State Legislatures these same spokesmen for the railroad workers say:

"Pass laws LIMITING THE LENGTH OF FREIGHT TRAINS—we oppose big tonnage trains."

To the Farmers, Manufacturers, and Merchants they say:

"With shorter freight trains railroads can move your products faster to the markets."

To the American Public that pays every dollar of the railroad bill (and 44 cents of every dollar paid for transportation is for wages), they say:

"All that the railroads have to do to meet our demands for higher wages is to shorten their trains, move the freight more rapidly and escape the penalty of overtime wages."

What would be the result of taking these leaders of the 350,000 train employees at their word—shorten freight trains so that they can be run at higher speed?

Increasing the number of trains to handle the same tonnage would call for more employees to do the same work, more tracks, larger yards and terminals, more supervision, and it is plain that there would be more congestion of traffic and greater hazards in train operation. Hundreds of millions a year would have to be spent by the railroads to increase their facilities and to operate the bigger plant.

IT WOULD BE ASKIN TO USING HAND SHOVELS INSTEAD OF FIVE-TON STEAM DREDGES TO DIG A PANAMA CANAL.

American railroads have spent enormous amounts in reducing grades, cutting down mountains and filling up valleys; in increasing the hauling power of locomotives and the carrying capacity of cars; in putting down rock ballast and heavy rails—all for one purpose, to lower the cost of operation.

It is the public that has reaped the benefit—in better and cheaper railroad service.

If the railroads moved their tonnage in shorter trains at higher speeds, the public, it is seen, would have to shoulder a great burden in the increased cost of transportation.

Would the public get value received for its money?

Of the tonnage on the roads east of Chicago 80 per cent. consists of coal, coke, ores, stone and other mine products. To the public it is of no consequence whether this freight is a few hours longer on the road, so long as there is a continuous and regular stream of it coming to the markets.

FOUR-FIFTHS OF ALL THE TONNAGE MOVING IN THE EAST IS MADE UP OF LOW GRADE, SLOW MOVING FREIGHT, CARRIED AT THE LOWEST RATES IN THE WORLD.

To abandon the big freight trains on American railroads in order to increase the speed at which the bulk of the traffic moves, and thereby enable the train employees to earn higher wages in shorter hours, would place a great burden on American industry without giving the public any tangible benefit.

LONG HOURS A RARITY.

Only Once in Five Years Does Average Trainman Exceed Legal Limit.

That long hours in train service have been reduced to a minimum is shown by a report issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Only one employee in five on the average last year was compelled to remain on duty more than sixteen hours during any one day in the whole year. Stated in another way, the chance of an engineer or trainman remaining on duty beyond this prescribed limit was reduced to once in five years.

The total number of cases of excess service from all causes reported to the commission was only 61,247 during the year ending June 30, 1915, as compared with 137,459 in 1914 and 270,827 in 1913, and with rare exceptions these represented cases recognized as due to unavoidable causes.

Statistics on this subject are collected by the Interstate Commerce Commission under the national hours-of-service law. Every time a train is so delayed by a blizzard, without or other cause that any part of the train crew is on duty longer than sixteen hours the railroad company must report the occurrence to the commission, giving the names of the individual employees concerned and a full statement of the cause for the excess service.

For several years the railroads and the Interstate Commerce Commission have been co-operating in efforts to prevent the keeping of employees on duty for long periods. The reduction of nearly 80 per cent. in such cases which has been brought about in three years shows that the working of men for long stretches of continuous service has practically disappeared except in rare cases of unavoidable delay.

RAILWAY MAIL PAY.

Congress Directs Interstate Commerce Commission to Investigate Subject.

Washington.—The annual Post Office appropriation bill recently passed by Congress contains a clause directing the Interstate Commerce Commission to take up for investigation, report and the fixing of rates the system of payment to the railroads for carrying mail. The Commission is authorized to test the relative merits of payment by weight and by space.

The railroads have long contended that they were underpaid for this service and that they were losing millions of dollars a year under the system of payment now in effect. It was felt that the Interstate Commerce Commission, on account of the information at its command regarding all phases of railroad operation, is in the best position to determine the merits of the case.

GOVERNMENT SHOULD REGULATE WAGES.

If a set of conditions have arisen which oblige the government to regulate rates, then it is equally obliged, on the basis of economic analysis, to regulate wages accordingly. Having taken one step, it must take the other. The logic of events is forcing this dilemma on the government. It is the public which sooner or later must pay for the increased expenses of transportation.—Professor J. Laurence Laughlin, University of Chicago.

The Sunshine.
The child's character in future years will reflect just as much sunshine and cheer as surrounded him from the earliest days. We recognize unthinkingly that the child is a reflection of his surroundings. The whining child lives with irritable people. The rude child is not treated courteously. We recognize the beloved child at once. Whatever of strength or weakness may be hidden in the child's heart, his manners and mannerisms, or the reverse, are the reflections of his surroundings. No child speaks a harsh word until he has heard one. No child lies, in the essential meaning of the term, if he is brought up in an atmosphere of kindness. And the beginning of this silent training is in the very beginning of his life. Love and truth must wrap the cradle. Firmness and self-control must be the mother's while the babe yet sleeps in her arms. —Selected.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Parody on "Twenty Years Ago" Dedicated to George E. Gary, Ferrell Boys' Reunion, 1916.

I've come back to the city, George, I've stood beneath the tree,
Upon the schoolhouse campus that once knew you and me,
But none there were to greet me, George, and few were left to know
Who drilled with us upon the grass, some forty years ago.

The grass is just as green, George, but the old schoolhouse is gone
Where the Major rang his bell for books at eight-thirty every morn,
And the Major sleeps upon the hill beyond the river's flow,
The stream on whose bank we drilled, some forty years ago.

The old schoolhouse no longer stands, its rooms are torn apart
By the onward march of Time in a way that wrings my heart.
The walls are still there, George, where the guns we used to stow,
But not as we once loved them, full forty years ago.

The dear old drill ground, George, where we were wont to meet
Just where you rode in at the gate is now a busy street;
And the old school rooms themselves, George, 'twill sadden you to know
Are dwellings now of strangers, born since forty years ago.

The river's running just the same, the willows on one side,
But a railroad's on the other, George, with double tracks and wide,
Between the old bluff and the stream the iron horses blow
Where our speeches made the echoes ring, back forty years ago.

And the field on Main street, George, where we sometimes went to drill
Is no longer as we knew it, with tears your eyes must fill
To see a city on the spot where you marched to and fro
And drilled the boys, while girls looked on, just forty years ago.

The old tree on the corner, George, where the lovely creatures stood,
And watched us on our dress parades when we were feeling good,
The one you carved with Mary's name, you rascal, don't you know
Another married your best girl, nigh forty years ago?

You remember the old graveyard, George, adjoining on one side,
A wilderness of weeds it was, where the boys would sometimes hide,
To serve the knotty problems, amidst tombs all in a row,
Can you realize, old fellow, that was forty years ago?

And there were other teachers, George, who used to make us hump,
Professor Glasgow taught us Greek, and there was Captain Crump,
Who made you a lieutenant, George, and how you played the beau!
In your uniform and shoulder straps, just forty years ago.

Both of them are with us yet and sharing in our joys;
They forget they were our teachers, George, they're like the other boys,
Time has touched them lightly, George, they're worried less, you know,
Than when we led the merry chase, some forty years ago.

And the old boys of the other years, whom we recall so well,
Six hundred of them first and last and how your heart must swell,
And from your eyes long dry, the scalding tears must flow,
When you note the gaps made in their ranks, since forty years ago.

Yet three-fourths of the boys remain, are not yet with the dead;
The Captain made the body strong and the Major filled the head.
They are scattered far and wide, George, some where we do not know
But all are bound by common ties, of forty years ago.

And so we come with whitened locks instead of black and red,
To live as in the days of yore and think of those who're dead;
Grandfathers now, but boys in heart, as the decades come and go
With thinner ranks we come each year, as forty years ago.

And though we thought the Major harsh, when he licked some lazy youth
With two score years behind us now, as men we know the truth;
The Major loved us as his own and never was our foe
And we never got a lick amiss, back forty years ago.

From far and near, our minds recall the paths that once we trod
And him who opened school with prayer and closed it with the rod;
Back in the old school house, in memory's fervent glow,
Lives one who straightened out bad boys, some forty years ago.

For thirty years he labored, before his race was run
Till the boy became a father, and then he taught the son,
Till his back was bent with age, and his locks as white as snow
Then God called the dear old Major of forty years ago.

With a tear for those who're missing and a smile for those we love
Let us bless the good old teacher, up in the realms above;
He did his duty day by day down in this world below
When we were boys together, George, back forty years ago.

FOOTBALL MEN CALLED TO MEET

Coach Mallory Asks All Prospective Players To Gather Monday.

Coach Mallory, of the High School football team, has called the first squad meeting of the year to be held at 7:30 Monday night at the high school building. All members of the squad or all who intend to come out for places in the line-up are requested by Mr. Mallory to come to the meeting. It is his purpose to ascertain how many men he will have on hand to try out for berths on the squad.

Coach Mallory says he is anxious to meet all the boys who have any idea of coming out for the High School team, either city or county pupils. The meeting will be valuable to the men and also will give the coach an idea of whom he will have to work with.

The meeting will be taken up with talking over the rules, considering plans for the year and discussing how the boys should begin to get in training for the coming season. Training will begin the first day of school this year. Coach Mallory will leave nothing undone toward producing a pennant winning aggregation.

MRS. CARROLL

Mrs. Mary Ann Carroll, aged 67 years, died at the home of her son, J. D. Carroll, near Chapel Hill, Saturday. Paralysis was the cause of death. Mrs. Carroll was a widow and the mother of ten children, only one of whom survives. She was a member of the Baptist church. The funeral services were conducted Sunday by Rev. E. L. Edens and the interment was in the Chapel Hill burying ground.—Pembroke Journal

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Department Instructs Inspectors to Watch Interstate and Foreign Shipments.

Officials of the department charged with the enforcement of the Food and Drugs Act expect that the outbreak of infantile paralysis will tempt unscrupulous persons to offer for sale so-called "cures" or remedies for this dread malady. They, therefore, have issued special instructions to the Food and Drug inspectors to be particularly alert for interstate shipments or importations of medicines the makers of which allege that they will cure or alleviate this disease, for which, at the present time, no medicinal cure is known. The officials also warn the public that any preparation put on the market and offered for sale as being effective for the treatment of infantile paralysis should be looked upon with extreme suspicion. Inspectors, accordingly, have been instructed to regard as suspicious and to collect samples of all medicines in interstate commerce for which such claims are made. Makers of such fraudulent remedies will be vigorously prosecuted whenever the evidence warrants action under the Sherley Amendment to the Food and Drugs Act. So-called remedies for infantile paralysis which are offered for import into the country will be denied entry.

Girl's Remarkable Swim.

New York, August 18.—With her brother, weighing 265 pounds, tied on her back, so that he could hardly move, Miss Ida Eleionsky, 17 years old, of New London, Conn., swam three miles down the North River Sunday, and was prevented from finishing her swim to the Battery only by an accident to a rowboat and launch that were accompanying her. Before entering the water she and her brother were tied together, a strong hemp rope being bound around the waist of both, while his hands and legs were tied as well.

The optimist generates a lot of hope that never comes out.

THE WYANDOTTE CLUBS.

Mrs. Eloise Nelson Graves has the following interesting article in "Farm and Family," which gives a comprehensive idea of the excellent work that has been done this year by the Christian County Poultry Association:

"During the fall of 1915, the Christian County Poultry Association was officially organized and steps were taken towards standardizing the county in the raising of one particular breed and variety of poultry. Mr. Geoffrey Morgan presided at this meeting and Mr. Chas. M. Meacham was elected president, and Dr. C. H. Tandy, vice president, J. W. Stowe, treasurer and B. D. Hill, secretary.

"After serious consideration a decision was made in favor of the White Wyandotte which was adopted.

"The names of prominent breeders of Wyandottes were secured throughout Kentucky, Tennessee and Indiana and consignments of eggs were shipped directly to the agent in charge of poultry work. A tour of the county was made by the State agent, Mr. Chapin, and Mrs. Graves, county agent, to organize boys and girls from the ages of 10 to 18 into local poultry clubs. The schools in nine sections of the county were visited and the hearty support of the rural teachers and the county superintendent did much to further and encourage the movement.

"Ninety of the boys and girls enrolled. Eighty have continued their membership and are raising White Wyandottes. Seventy-six have sent in reports relative to their success in hatching and out of the 2,000 eggs distributed there are reported 1210 chickens.

"In purchasing these eggs a cash consideration was necessary, and to meet this condition the Planters' Bank & Trust Company, of Hopkinsville, offered to lend to the boys and girls the money as club members who desired it until October 1, with no interest, taking their personal notes for the amount desired, provided that they gave their chicks careful personal attention, and abide by the rules of the County Poultry Association, and that out of each brood they agree to save at least one cockerel and ten pullets, in order to propagate the breed with a view to standardizing Christian county.

"To promote further interest in the movement the Acme Mills Company, of Hopkinsville, proposed that they supply Wyandotte eggs to adults with the promise that out of each setting there was to be returned to the mill one chicken at whatever time specified."

INTEREST IS GROWING.

were supplied the boys and girls, thereby giving them a regular correspondence course in poultry management. These bulletins taking up every phase of poultry raising, including housing, feeding, egg testing, hatching and marketing.

"It is very unusual and a very attractive sight to watch these young folks early these bright mornings with buckets of chick food and green stuff and grit attending to their Wyandottes according to their 'Uncle Sam's' directions. Recording books in which every detail of the management of their flocks is to be recorded were sent to each member and the State agent at regular periods for returns and the county agent revisited the individual clubs, giving illustrated lectures in the rural schools and demonstrations in the homes, showing how to determine the good points in a show bird and how to prepare a bird for the fair.

"Enthusiastic club meetings have been held, combining social and educational features and many hospitable homes have been thrown open, decorated with flags and flowers and delightful refreshments served on the lawns. Quite a spirit of pardonable rivalry is exhibited through the various communities in contesting for the two handsome silver cups that have been offered by Peter Fox Sons, local poultry dealers.

"The prizes at the Pennyroyal Fair have been liberally donated by the merchants of Hopkinsville and the Fair Association. And in recognition of what is being expected of them, the Wyandottes seem to be making an extra effort to attain unusual perfection for this occasion, when they are to make their first appearance before the good people of Christian county."
